First of Bonus Bonds Received in Hope Monday

C. C. McNeill Is First Veteran to Get Service Certificate

BALANCE TUESDAY

Bulk of Bonus Bonds to Be Sent to 600 Hempstead Veterans

C. C. McNeill, 317 North Hervey street, Monday became the first World War veteran in Hempstead county to receive his soldiers' bonus bond.

A few of the bonds were received by the Hope post office Monday from Dallas, the first being delivered to Mr. McNeill, who served 13 months overseas and went through two major battles without injuries.

Mr. McNeill was in the Ninth Division. He served as a private, and was in France when the armistice was signed.

Mr. McNeill said that he would not cash his "baby bonds" until June 15, 1945. At that time they will be worth $13.50 more each than they are today.

Postmaster Robert Wilson said that the bulk of the bonds would be received from St. Louis and would be distributed over the county Tuesday. He urged that veterans remain at home that day to sign for the bonds upon delivery. Approximately 600 veterans in the county will receive adjusted service certificates.

Arrangements have been made with Captain J. M. Duffie, commanding officer of the local unit of the National Guard, for use of the Army building just across the street from the post office, in the work of certification of the bonds for payment.

Veterans who are not in need of immediate funds are urged not to present their bonds for payment during the first few days, in order to give precedence to the more hard-pressed veterans.

3,500,000 Veterans
WASHINGTON.—(AP)—A cargo of bonus "baby" bonds worth nearly $1,600,000,000 was trundled from 12 federal reserve bank centers at midnight Sunday night, tagged for delivery to some 3,500,000 World War veterans.

By the end of the week, government experts predicted, millions of dollars in cash would be in the hands of those veterans throughout the country who seek immediate trade-in of their bonds for government checks.

When the whole job is done, 38,000,000 bonds will be in the hands of the nation's 3,500,000 veterans. The size of the individual payments will range from $60 to $1500, officials estimate.

The government threw around the system of distribution all possible checks against fraud. Treasury and post office detectives were prepared to strike swiftly against anyone seeking to defraud veterans.

Misrepresentations made to gain possession of registered mail containing the bonds, they warned, would bring down on the heads of offenders five-year prison sentences, $2000 fines or both. Even heavier penalties await any who attempt to cash the bonds.

The bonus payment has been heralded for months by the predictions of its advocates that a tremendous upsurge in business would come when the millions of dollars start flowing into the channels of trade.

The American Legion estimated that merchants and retailers would receive $623,615,733 from the payments.

JERUSALEM.—(AP)—A Jewish settlement here was attacked again by Arab terrorists Sunday night despite government emergency regulations threatening death penalty to rioters.

HYDERABAD, India.—(AP)—women and children were feared dead Monday after a fire that swept a motion picture theater here. The victims were believed trapped in the balcony when the theater caught fire Sunday night.

Clark Descendants Live in Hempstead

Memorial Service Held at Vincennes, Ind., on Sunday, June 14

The dedication of the Clark Memorial on Sunday, June 14, at Vincennes, Ind., brings back memories of not only the history of that state but of Hempstead county also.

For, while George Rogers Clark was making history in that section of the country, his brother Benjamin, with his wife, Hulda Anthony was playing an important part in the early development of north Hempstead county. The descendants of these famous brothers, Mrs. Dan Green, Hope; Luther Smith, Washington; Misses Mary and Edna Jones, Hope, and Mrs. Joe Fontaine, Ozon, still live in Hempstead county and the dramatic story of their ancestors' history is told in the Star's Centennial Edition, out June 26.

Speaking of ancestry, Mrs. Sid Henry and Miss Mae Jamison are direct descendants of Benjamin Franklin Butler, who was attorney general of the United States at the time of Arkansas's admission into the Union, later serving as Secretary of War in Jackson's cabinet.

Faulkner County Salary Act Upheld

Election Commissioners Had Barred the Question From Ballot

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court Monday upheld the validity of the 1934 Faulkner county salary act election which the citizens voted with rubber stamp ballots in favor of the act after the board of election commissioners had barred the question from the ballot.

In another important opinion the high court ruled that the State Highway department must pay sales tax on commodities purchased to maintain highways.

The decision affirmed a Pulaski chancery court ruling.

The Highway Commission in a suit brought against the state revenue commissioner claimed that it was a branch of the government and that the tax should not be imposed as it would be "taking money out of one pocket and putting it into another."

Loses Control of Speed Boat, Hurt

Several Spectators Injured When Boat Hurtles Into Crowd

SEATTLE.—(AP)—Adolph Spreckels, wealthy sportsman, was injured seriously Sunday when he lost control of an outboard motorboat and the craft raced up the beach at Green Lake, hurtled through a crowd of spectators and crashed on top of a sound truck. Several spectators also were hurt.

Spreckels was thrown high in the air against a telephone pole, where he hung suspended by an arm from one of the squire-like climbing steps until removed by spectators and rushed to a hospital. Attendants said his condition was serious but not necessarily dangerous.

The young sportsman, formerly of Seattle but now of Eugene, Ore., had finished a heat of a race and was headed toward the landing float when the automatic throttle of his boat apparently jammed.

New Experiments to Be Inspected at Station Farm

Annual Visiting Day Is Set for June 26, Ware Announces

FUTRELL TO SPEAK
Visitors From 40 Counties Expected—Program Is Ready

June 26 has been designated as annual visiting day at the University of Arkansas College of Agriculture Fruit and Truck Branch Experiment station, according to G. W. Ware, assistant director in charge of the station.

The station has an unusual number of new experiments this year, offering something of interest and value to all.

The morning will be devoted to a bus tour through the station farm, under the direction of L. C. Baber, extension district agent, and corps of agricultural specialists, who will make short talks on different phases of the work.

The afternoon program schedules addresses by Dr. C. C. Taylor, Resettlement Administration, Dan T. Gray, dean and director, College of Agriculture, Governor J. M. Futrell, and J. W. Sargent, state co-ordinator of the Soil Conservation Service.

Large numbers of visitors are expected to attend from 40 counties, under the leadership of county and home demonstration agents, and other agricultural leaders throughout South Arkansas. The public is invited to attend.

The annual negro visiting day will be held on the following Saturday, June 27.

69 Lose Lives in Week-End Crashes

Four Persons Perish in Arkansas—Nation Led by Pennsylvania

By the Associated Press
At least 69 persons were killed in week-end traffic accidents throughout the United States. Pennsylvania led other states with nine fatalities. Seventeen people were injured and one killed in one accident near Tunkhannock, Pa.

Sixteen of the injured were occupants of a transcontinental bus which skidded and overturned when the driver applied brakes on a slippery hill. The bus crushed an automobile, killing the driver. Five minutes earlier two automobiles collided at the same spot but the occupants escaped injury.

Star's Centennial Edition to Be 48 Pages--June 26 Is Date

The Arkansas Centennial Edition of Hope Star, which will be issued Friday, June 26, will have 48 pages—in six eight-page sections.

The edition is being published in standard-sized pages—not tabloid pages.

It would equal 96 pages if in tabloid like other state editions.

The first section came off the press June 6, Section "C," which will be the third in the completed newspaper.

Another section went to press last Saturday, June 13, Section "D," which will be the fourth in the complete edition.

The Star has already published the index on Section "C."

The new one, Section "D" contains 21 stories and photographs as follows:

Arkansas Observes 100th Anniversary With Celebrations

Colorful Parade and Page-and Is Staged in Little Rock Monday

OTHER PROGRAMS

Birthday Programs Planned in Various Parts of State This Week

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—(AP)—Century-old Arkansas observed Statehood Day Monday, the second major event in its celebration of the 100th anniversary of admittance to the union on June 15, 1836.

First sale of Arkansas centennial commemorative stamps begins at Little Rock with a parade and pageant.

Other Monday events over the state include opening of exhibit halls at Harrison, a pageant at Van Buren and flag services at Jasper in Newton county.

The centennial commission calendar of events also includes highway 71 convention at Mena on Wednesday; Boy Scout circus here Thursday; Little River pilgrimage by garden clubs to gardens of county on Friday and historical week opening Sunday at Ashdown with pageants, exhibit hall, picnics and other events; and Eureka Springs pageant Sunday.

Sale of centennial stamps started with private ceremony here Monday. The first sheet was sent to President Roosevelt, who last Wednesday came to Arkansas to launch the state's centennial celebration.

The parade of progress will portray the inaugural procession in honor of James S. Conway, first governor of Arkansas. Claiborne W. Conway, will play the part of his grandfather, the governor. Sixty floats will add color to the proceedings.

The United States marine band played a concert at the war memorial building at 9:30 a. m. preceding the unveiling of a tablet in the building by memorial chapter, UDC.

The United States government presented the Augustus H. Garland death couch to the Arkansas Pioneers Association of Little Rock.

A parade of progress, sponsored by the Young Men's Association, is scheduled during the afternoon. Another marine band concert at city park Monday night concludes the celebration.

Young Girl Drowns in Tennessee Lake

LAFOLETTE, Tenn.—(AP)—Ruby Wilson, 14, was the first victim of Norris Lake. The young girl drowned near Cedar Hill, about six miles south of here Sunday.

According to members of the outing party, Miss Wilson could not swim and was being taught to do so. She became frightened when she was in deep water. Her body was recovered about 10 minutes after she disappeared below the surface.

Lonely Widow to Leave Arkansas, Never to Return

ENGLAND, Ark.—(AP)—Mrs. Lula Tuveson, South Bend, Ind., widow, returned here from a three-hour visit with Ed Hardwick, life term at Tucker state prison farm, and announced that when she leaves the state this week she "never expects to return to Arkansas again."

Mrs. Tuveson failed early this month in an attempt to obtain clemency for Hardwick, serving a life sentence for murder. She told Governor J. M. Futrell that she desired to marry the convict whom she met through an exchange of letters in a magazine column.

"Our parting was very cheerful," Mrs. Tuveson said, "but we both realized that it may have been the last time we shall ever see each other. There was no use to spoil it, however, and we both were able to smile."

"Mr. Hardwick was quite disturbed when I told him that I was leaving and never expected to return. We will keep our letters but the future—well, it looks pretty far to the time when he will be able to leave the prison a free man and come to me."

Your Baby's Health

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Long before doctors had any idea of the special virtues of cod liver oil in preventing rickets, fishermen on the Baltic and North seas used it as a convenient remedy for all sorts of diseases. Before the time of modern scientific medicine, cod liver oil was prescribed for rheumatism, tuberculosis, and other wasting disorders.

Today we use the oil with far more scientific understanding of its real merits. All sorts of oils now are used in the human body in prevention and control of disease. Most conspicuous are cod liver and mineral oils, but there are also purgative varieties, such as castor oil and certain special types, such as the chaulmoogra oil which is used in leprosy.

The difference between cod liver oil and mineral oil is, essentially, that the former provides important nutrient substances, whereas the latter is valuable simply for lubrication.

Cod liver oil is used primarily for its content of vitamins A and D, and for treatment of the disease called rickets. In rickets, there is softening of the bones due to a failure of the body to use properly the mineral substances, calcium and phosphorus. Vitamin D apparently is the substance which controls this utilization.

As has been explained, vitamin D is created by the human body when it is exposed to the ultraviolet rays of the sun. Strangely, rickets did not appear prominently among human beings until the development of window glass. Ordinary window glass does not permit the ultraviolet rays to pass. There was a time when rickets affected as many as 50 to 80 per cent of all children. Their long bones did not grow properly. Their muscles were flabby and they developed characteristic, notably. Along the sides of the chest where the bones of the ribs meet the cartilages, little knobs appeared. This gave the appearance of what is called "rickety rosary."

The head bones did not develop properly and the rickety children had a square-headed appearance. The bones of the arms and legs bent and such children became knock-kneed or bow-legged, while some even developed twisted spines.

Now, cod liver oil is the substance in nature which is richest in vitamin D, and physicians soon found that use of cod liver oil prevented rickets. Most doctors prescribe five drops of fluid cod liver oil three times a day for babies two weeks old, and increase the dose, after three weeks, to 10 drops three times a day.

Later the baby should get two teaspoonfuls daily; this dose beginning at three months of age. From four months of age onward, it is common to prescribe three teaspoonfuls daily. Modern cod liver oil, however, is more potent in its content of vitamin D than that available even four or five years ago, so that only two teaspoonfuls daily now are required for the prevention of rickets in most children.

And They Serve Tea
Richardson was born in London, inherited a tobacco shop, or shoppe, from his father, but sold it six years ago and came to Hollywood. He says Englishmen are his best customers—Leslie Howard, C. Aubrey Smith, Arthur Treacher and Boris Karloff. They come and sit at his latest importation, and have a spot of tea in the back room.

He makes a specialty of individual blends, keeping hundreds of formulae in a little black book, and packing the tobacco in fancy tins with the owners' names on the labels. He can afford this extra trouble, because some of the blends cost $10 a pound.

His Studio Blend is only $4 a pound.

though, and the inspirational mixture he sells to writers costs even less. Seven writers seem to be great pipe smokers. Oh, quite.

He declares a number of prominent women smoke pipes, too, but he declines to name them.

Competition Too Keen
Times aren't so good for Serailian, the cigar maker. He's half inclined to blame his private depression on the indorsement campaigns of popular brands.

In the days when the screen was silent and the stars tried to outdo one another in extravagance, he couldn't keep up with the orders. Now he caters mostly to the wives of directors and producers, and foreign newcomers, and tourists.

Only Al Jolson and Henrietta Crosman, among the players, the steady customers now. Serailian's memory is bad, but he does recall making thousands of cigars for Tom Mix, Pauline Frederick, Fatty Arbuckle, and John Gilbert when they were tops. He fashioned a batch for Max Baer, too, when the butcher boy was champ and in Hollywood making a picture.

Long and Short
These days, $7.50 a hundred is about the limit for Serailian's cigars, but these are after-dinner models measuring 5 1/2 inches. For really rare blends and solid gold tips, a distinguished customer can pay a good deal more. To tourists Serailian sells 1 1/4-inch cigars in packs of 10, labeled "A

Hope Splits With Sheridan Sunday

Lumberjacks Win First, 5 to 3, and Then Drop Second, 4 to 2

The Williams Lumber company baseball team split a double-header with Sheridan Sunday, winning the first, 5 to 3, and dropping the second, 4 to 2.

The games were played at Sheridan, the second contest being called in the sixth inning because of a "blue law" against playing after 6 p. m. at Sheridan on Sunday.

Carroll Schooley hurled the first contest, giving up six hits. Somerville received.

Elliott and McDowell worked on the mound in the second game, with Somerville and Russell behind the plate.

The Lumberjacks go to Okay Wednesday. New Boston, Texas, comes here next Sunday.

Mayor Decides to Recall Director

Pittsburgh's Executive Not to Make Police Changes

PITTSBURGH, Penn.—(AP)—Pittsburgh's wisecracking, fiddle-playing mayor, William N. McNair, Monday back-peddled in his latest spectacular maneuver.

The mayor Monday recalled Public Safety Director Thomas Dunn from his enforced 15-day furlough, which was ordered by the mayor because the director refused to make 115 department changes in the police force.

The mayor was recently arrested and placed in jail after a row in police courts in the city. A grand jury will investigate activities of the mayor.

A new attack plane, recently delivered to the U. S. Army Air Corps, is equipped with perforated trailing edge flaps which are said to reduce buffeting, although being said to be effective as solid flaps.

Puff From Hollywood. Sounds silly, but people buy 'em.

Topsy-Turvy Rules

There are "No Smoking" signs on all the studio sound stages in deference to fire department regulations. But everybody smokes, including the cameramen. Only time the rule is enforced is by order of the director or the cameraman, who doesn't want a noticeable haze to settle on the sets.

A movie property man—the fellow who is supposed to be able to produce anything from an aardvark to a Zuni—usually can be distinguished on the set by the cigars he smokes. Reason is that a box of cigars is part of every prop man's equipment. They're furnished by studios to be used in scenes. Generally they are used behind the scenes.

The Centennial

This week with the tumult and shouting of a successful President's Day still echoing from Arkansas hills and across Arkansas prairies the Arkansas Centennial Commission immediately began work on further plans for events during the Centennial Year.

Calendars of events are being drawn up for national release. Picnics, pageants, homecomings, parades and various celebrations are scheduled for all counties throughout Arkansas.

The visit of the President and Mrs. Roosevelt to Hot Springs National Park, Malvern, Rockport and Little Rock attracted the interest and attention of the entire nation to the Arkansas Centennial observance. The interest of the nation continued to be held by the events of Statehood Day on Monday (June 15) throughout Arkansas with its background of rich historical significance and preceded by the spiritually important Centennial Year.

Cubs Hang Up 11th Straight Victory

Lon Warneke Leads Matos to 3 to 1 Win Over Boston Bees

CHICAGO—(AP)—A pair of homers by Frank Demaree cushioned in an all-time tight pitching by Lon Warneke Sunday and the Cubs continued their way toward the top of National League affairs by beating Boston again, 3 to 1, for their eleventh straight victory. In sweeping the four-game series with the Bees, the Cubs ended their home stay with 15 victories in 19 games.

Demaree's homers accounted for all the Cubes' runs. The first, which sailed over the left-field wall, came in the second inning after Ken O'Donoghue had singled; the other which landed in the left-field bleachers, was hit in the fourth. His sixth and seventh homers of the season, they extended his hitting streak to 13 consecutive games.

John Lanning, Boston freshman high hander, was the victim of both blows. The Cubs got seven hits off him and Dan MacFayden, the same number Warneke yielded.

A double by Bill Phranks and a single by Gene Moore which scored him, were the only useful hits to the Bees. These came at the start of the game. Warneke walked the next two batters and then staidied and didn't allow a runner past first base as he won his fifth straight victory and his seventh of the season.

A crowd of 16,978 saw the game.

Counties throughout Arkansas joined in the celebration of Statehood Day on Monday. A mammoth parade in Progress in Little Rock, the formal sale of the first sheets of the Arkansas Centennial Commemorative Stamp, a concert by the United States Marine band and the unveiling of a memorial tablet and the presentation of the August H. Garland death couch feature the day in Little Rock.

Newton, Boone, Crawford and Polk counties were among those having county-wide celebrations.

The "Miss Arkansas Centennial" county contests closed on Friday, June 12. Voting results and the winner in each county will be announced as rapidly as possible, the contest manager said.

The GLAMOROUS ADVENTURE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GAIL EVERETT, ambitious to become a designer, comes to New York and—due to a stroke of luck—is hired by MADAME LIZETTE, proprietor of an exclusive shop. Madame proves temperamental and difficult to work for.

BEREK HARGREAVES, young artist, is interested in Gail. She also frequently sees DIKIE BEARDS, whose sister, GILES MARY, was her roommate at school.

Meanwhile, in Arizona, Gail's uncle, MARK CHAPMAN, returns home after years of wandering, and finds his old home in the hands of the Travers Mining Co. Mark suspects the deal is crooked and is in touch with GILES HARGREAVES, New York lawyer. Harding tries to locate Gail.

Berek asks Gail to marry him and she agrees. Later a mutual understanding comes between them and LUCILLE TRAVERS, who wants Berek for herself, tells him that Gail is to marry him.

Now go on with this story

CHAPTER XXIII

MARK CHAPMAN glanced around the ranch house. "Well," he said, "this doesn't look so bad, but I guess we'd better get some woman to come in and clean things up a little before our company arrives."

"I say it's just fine," Jed Hosker stopped to light his pipe.

"There's the postman and, by gosh, he's putting something in the box. See what it is!" exclaimed Mark.

"Just the paper," I guess," Jed said, tossing the newspaper on the table. "It doesn't get any bigger, I notice."

"I reckon it's big enough to hold all the news that comes down this valley," Mark tore off the wrapper. "By gosh," he exclaimed as he looked at the headlines, "here's enough news to keep everyone talking for a spell. The Travers company has gone smash!"

Quickly Mark read the story of the spectacular finish of the mining company. "Seems they took orders on the strength of ore they knew was in the Rancho Angelo and when they couldn't deliver, some rumor started in New York. I guess Cal Travers is a down-and-outter again. Every office is closed up—flew, but that will mean a lot of fellows will lose their jobs."

LUCILLE TRAVERS shook the angry tears from her eyes as she stamped about the luxurious living room of her home. "Don't speak to me!" she cried.

"But, Lucille!" Mrs. Travers dabbed at her tired face, devoid for the moment of any rouge or powder and revealing all the devastating lines of age. "No one dreamed such a thing could happen. Please don't talk so crossly to me. I can't stand it."

"I'll talk to you any way I like—and, more than that, I'll kill myself before I'll go out to Arizona with you and Cal. He'll never, never make a comeback. Never now! It's too late."

"But we can't leave you here alone, unless—Mrs. Travers sat up suddenly—"you're going to marry that artist fellow. Is that it, Lucille? Of course that makes a difference. Still, if you love him like I loved your Pa—"

"Oh, forget it! Much you know about love," Lucille laughed bitterly. "You don't need to worry about me. I'll have Trotter pack my things. Cal's creditors needn't think they can take them!" And she flounced away to her own rooms.

Mrs. Travers patted her eyes, though no tears came from them now. After all they'd done for Lucille, how could she talk to her own mother like that?

Mrs. Travers sighed. What if Cal hadn't treated her just the way he should during these years he'd been so rich? He needed her now, and she was ready to go with him, to help him get a start again.

"YOU mean," Natalie exclaimed, "that I'm invited to go with you to 'Heart's Delight' for the week-end?"

Gail nodded. "Yes, I came to meet you so you'd be sure to come straight home. Rosemary is calling for us tomorrow about 10 o'clock."

"And we'll drive out with her in her Rolls-Royce?" Natalie's voice quivered with excitement.

"Yes, she thought it would be nicer than going out by train."

"Nice! Oh, Gail, this is overwhelming. I can hardly realize that I'm stepping into society!"

"But the Searies are very plain people, Natalie. I hope you won't be disappointed. Don't think you're going to eat off gold plates or have peacocks' tongues for dinner. You'll like Mr. and Mrs. Searies, though, for they're so genuine."

"But I can't understand why they should be asking me to spend the week-end with them!"

"I guess you made a good impression on Rosemary," teased Gail. "And they appreciate the fact that you've been so sweet to me. Let's hurry now, for I've got to fix my bathing suit belt. I broke the buckle, but I found quite a good-looking one that I can use."

"I'm so thrilled! Sweltering in the office! I almost hated the thought of tomorrow and sitting around in my room, but now—I weren't walking down the avenue I'd dance a jig!"

It was just striking 10 when the Searies' limousine drew to the curb before the clubhouse next morning and Rosemary entered the building. "Tell Miss Everett I'm coming right up to see her," she told the clerk.

AS she stepped out of the elevator, Natalie was just entering Gail's room. "Oh, how do you do," she called to Rosemary. "It's wonderful of you to ask me to come with Gail. We're all ready."

"I'm awfully glad you could come. Oh, is this your room, Gail?" exclaimed Rosemary as they entered. "What a cute little place and what a gorgeous view you get!"

"It's not bad," answered Gail, "but one of these days I think I'll get an apartment."

"Now that you've fallen heir to that property in the west you'll be able to have anything you want, won't you? Are you going to keep on working?"

"She's left Madame's," said Natalie. Then, as the girls went downstairs, Gail told of her sudden dismissal.

"Well, I'm glad you're away from that creature," Rosemary said vigorously. "I wonder that anyone would stay and work for her!"

Gail thought of Toinette and Selma and the others and realized that the very necessity of having to earn a living compelled them to stand for a lot.

With their week-end cases safely stowed away and the chauffeur at the wheel, the three girls sat in the back seat of the car, chatting gaily.

"Of course you've heard the news about the Travers collapse," said Rosemary.

"Yes! I guess they've lost practically everything, though someone said Mr. Travers was going west again and that he's made it up with his wife," answered Natalie.

"Will Lucille go with them, too?" asked Gail, her thoughts at once on Derek. Would this make a difference to him? Would his gallant heart come to Lucille's rescue?

"I don't know," answered Natalie, "but I suppose she'll go. What else could she do?"

"It's too bad she didn't marry that count she was bragging about, for her father would probably have settled a fortune on her," remarked Rosemary.

"Perhaps she'll take up designing seriously now," suggested Gail.

"And step into your shoes at Madame's?" asked Natalie.

"But, girls, maybe Madame Lizette's shop is gone, too. She was backed by Mrs. Travers, you know."

June 15, 1936, president Andrew Jackson signed the bill for the admission of Arkansas into the Union—Monday marks the one hundredth anniversary of that occasion.

He who is wise will ride the tides, today,
Not dreading the future, nor shamed by the giant past;
He who is wise will take life as it comes,
Boldly, superbly, caring not for death
Strikes as the thunder rises from the south,
And the fierce lightning flickers; he who is wise
Will have more things than death before his eyes,
A greater thing than self within his heart,
Not in the dwindling instant, nor in the day,
Shall we be proud and high, to find our dream
Embodied in full life, a "Wonder State".
Beyond our hopes, or some hazy gleam of
The fire burns in us slowly; let it come,
That day unthought-of, we become as one
Upon the summit of time, ere days depart.
—From John Gould Fletcher's Epic of Arkansas, Centennial Edition of the Arkansas Gazette.

David Finley of St. Louis was the week end guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Finley.

Miss Mary Louise Keith had as Sunday guests, Mrs. Carroll Nordean of Okla. Mesdames Nordean and Emerson will be remembered as Miss Louise and Lucille, Turner, formerly of this city.

Winfred Dabbs of the University of New Mexico and Wilford Short of Prescott were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Wellborn.

Mrs. K. G. McRae spent the week end with relatives in Little Rock

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Strickland enjoyed a family re-union on Sunday at their home on South Elm street. A most delightful noon dinner commemorated the occasion. Seated at the table were Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Tillemann and two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Jones and baby of Shreveport, La., Mr. and Mrs. Sam Lane and Miss Birdie Lane Wright and Mrs. S. E. Templeton of Texarkana, Mrs. W. F. Sauer, city, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Strickland and son, Jack Wells Strickland.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Green announce the marriage of their daughter, Emma to Charles O. Thomas. The ceremony was performed at 8:30 Sunday evening June 13 at the home of the officiating minister, Dr. Fred R. Harrison, pastor of the First Methodist church. The bride has been connected with the Hope Star office force for the past seven years and Mr. Thomas is construction engineer for District No. 5 WPA. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas are at home off East Second street.

Mrs. Tom Sawyer of Little Rock spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bartlett.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Mrs. Kate M. Thomas to H. M. Olsen of Chicago and Hope, which took place on Saturday night, June 13, at Lewisville, Ark. Mr. and Mrs. Philip Dulin Jr., witnessed the ceremony, performed at the home of the officiating minister, Rev. B. F. Musser, pastor of the First Methodist church. Mrs. Olsen has won her place in the business circle of this city as the popular proprietor of the Ladies Specialty Shop for the past 12 years. Mr. Olsen represents Tabin-Picker dress manufacturers of Chicago. Following a short wedding trip to Shreveport, Mr. and Mrs. Olsen are at home at 712 East Third street.

Misses Jewell Bartlett and Frances Lipscomb were Monday visitors in Little Rock where they attended the centennial celebration of Arkansas' admission into the union.

An article that will be of interest to the many friends of Mrs. Smith and daughter, Miss Margaret, in the Dallas Times Herald, states that Mrs. P. D. Smith and daughter, Miss Margaret, of 3709 Lexington avenue, Dallas, will sail from New York on June 17, on the S. S. Europe. They will visit England, France, Belgium, Austria, Italy, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia, Denmark and a number of other countries before returning to the United States. August 27, Miss Smith who was graduated from Highland Park High School this month, will enter Stevens College at Columbia, Mo., September 10. Mrs. Smith will be remembered as Miss Margaret Boyett, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. R. A. Boyett of this city.

Thousands Hear President Talk

Urges Conservation of Resources in Vincennes Speech

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Roosevelt returned to the national capital Monday, ending a 4,000-mile speaking trip through the Southwest that began last Monday night and covered a dozen states.

Arriving 15 minutes ahead of schedule, he found three cabinet members, Secretary Morgenthau, Attorney General Cummings, and Postmaster General Farley a waiting him.

Speaks in Indiana
VINCENNES, Ind. (AP)—President Roosevelt Sunday revived the western pioneers' principles of religion, morality and knowledge as essentials to good government and urged rigid conservation of national resources and a re-arming against "new devices of crime and cupidity."

The chief executive made his address, last of the major speeches on a 5,000-mile western trip, in dedicating before upwards of 20,000 persons a beautiful granite memorial here on the Washburn to George Rogers Clark, northwestern revolutionary war hero. Governor Paul V. McNutt, of Indiana introduced the President from a flag-covered platform in front of the circular granite monument of Greek architecture.

"On this spot," he said, "it was made known that we were to have a nation instead of a confederacy of seaboard states."

American Hospital Attacked, 5 Slain

Machine Gun Battle Leaves 3 Pirates and 2 Policemen Dead

AMOY, China. (AP)—Pirates Monday attacked an American hospital here but were beaten off after a machine gun battle in which five men were killed.

Those slain included three pirates and two policemen.

The hospital itself was not damaged and none of the inmates were injured. The institution belongs to the Board of Foreign Missions of Reformed Church of America with headquarters in New York.

Canton Asks Aid
SHANGHAI, China. (AP)—The Canton (South China) government telegraphed the national government at Nanking an appeal Sunday urging that the nation as a whole take a stronger attitude toward Japanese activities in China.

This message, sent by Chen Chi-tang, governor of Canton and military leader of Kwangtung province, said, however, that forces of Cantonese were withdrawing from Hunan province "for the present."

(Hunan, attached to the Nanking government, borders upon Kwangtung province of the Canton regime.)

National government leaders interpreted the development as a strong indication Kwangtung province is unwilling to continue its threat against Hunan province, which Nanking is answering with ever-increasing military concentrations in Fukien, Kiangsi, and Hunan provinces.

The national government believes Canton's latest action left Kwangtung province alone to prosecute any anti-Nanking campaign. War lords of Kwangsi are believed to realize they are incapable of waging war alone.

Thus Nanking was optimistic that the southern threat is rapidly dissipating, thereby removing the danger of civil war.

Elimination of 105 dangerous railroad grade crossings on the west side of Manhattan Island is near completion. Construction of bridges, open cuts, tunnels and elevated structures to end traffic hazards in this 13-mile long area was begun in 1929.

Week-end traffic fatalities, as reported by states, follows:
Arkansas, 4; California, 4; Colorado, 2; Connecticut, 5; Idaho, 1; Indiana, 5; Illinois, 3; Iowa, 1; Michigan, 6; Minnesota, 3; Missouri, 3; New York, 8; Ohio, 2; Oklahoma, 3; Pennsylvania, 9; Texas, 5; Wisconsin, 2; Wyoming, 1.

4 Dead in State
Three white persons and a negro fell victims of automobile accidents in Arkansas over the week-end.

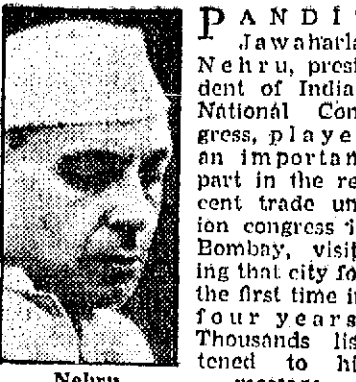

John W. Davis, 66, one of the largest property owners in Hot Springs, died almost instantly when the car he was driving ran off the gravel highway near Glenwood and struck a tree. His wife was injured seriously, and her life was in danger in a Hot Springs hospital Sunday night.

There were two fatalities at Pine Bluff. Bob A. Duke, 24, was killed when the car he was driving was sideswiped by another. Seven other persons in the car escaped injury.

E. J. Morris, negro, was injured fatally Saturday night when riding on the running board of an automobile, another car sideswiped the machine.

The fourth highway fatality occurred Sunday afternoon near Charleston, Franklin county. Jimmy McKinley, aged 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. McKinley of Bloomer, was struck by a car and killed.

Open Air Revival to Start Tuesday

Pentecostal Church Plans Meeting at Third and Ferguson Streets

The Rev. Cleve Kerley, pastor of the Fourth Street Pentecostal church, announced Monday that an open-air revival meeting would begin Tuesday night at Third and Ferguson streets.

Miss Leola Lindsey of Little Rock will have charge of the opening ceremonies. Besides being the principal speaker she will sing and play the guitar. She is only 17.

The public is invited to attend. The meeting is expected to continue several days.

WITH THE LADIES

By Helen Welshimer

Every mother should own a powder puff! It is important that a mother watch the looking glass as it is that she keeps her eye on the biscuits. Small boys and girls love pretty, well-groomed mothers.

It is fine when the mother has a plate of ginger cookies with which to entertain the young visitors, but it is twice as much to her advantage when she has a clean house dress, a smile and well-brushed hair.

Children, as it happens, do not understand that making ginger cookies is an art, while everyone can be well-groomed. They know only that they wish their mothers were as pretty as their teachers; that they wish their mothers sat down sometimes instead of working continuously and complaining about how tired they are; that they wish their mothers weren't always canning pickles or raspberries or doing the ironing.

Humor Needs Before Material Ones
Unfair of the children, you may say. When there is work it has to be done and no woman makes herself a drudge because she wants to. Certainly not. But some women make themselves martyrs because they want to. They choose to be Marthas when the role of Mary is both easier and happier.

Neat rooms, white curtains, polished floors—not for one minute would I deprecate the value of any of them. However, when a woman must choose between a scrubbed rug or a story hour, she is selling her birthright for a mess of spinnage if she lets the human appeal go unanswered. When there are occasions on which she can not answer her children's spiritual needs because of overwhelming physical obstacles, she is worthy of supreme sympathy.

Ideal Mother Gives Understanding
A woman not only increases her child's admiration for her when she enters his mental and spiritual life—and that does not mean that she has to understand anything about the calculus he is studying—but she retains her own interest in people and events, which is a task in itself.

Therefore, it is with genuine approbation that Mrs. James Richard Smith, of Claremont, Calif., was elected recently as the choice of the Golden Rule Foundation for the "American Mother of 1936." Fifty-three years old, the mother of six children, tall, full-figured, silver-haired, smiling and serene, she is an illustration of a woman who took care of her family on $60 a month, kept her sense of humor and her complexion, and never failed to nurture her children's ideals and ideas.

Yes, in most instances it can be done! A woman, if she accepts motherhood as a proud role, not as the end of ambition, can build with living clay structures that are surpassingly beautiful.

Sacrifice That Extra Jar of Pickles
How women rear their families in peace and happiness, care for their material wants as well as those that are deeper, and retain their poise is a mystery. That there are some whose lines are cast in the monotony of toil in such a manner that they can not chart their days, we know, and for them, there is only sympathy and pity. But to the great average—the women who could have on a clean apron when the children come from school, if they cannot one jar less of pickles—to them, Mrs. Smith presents the challenge of successful motherhood.

Plans are being made for a $5,000,000 airbase at Shanghai, China, to rank with the finest in the world.

The commissioner and natives of Turk's Island, in the southern Bahamas, declared a national holiday when an airplane landed there, the first in the island's history.

Canada's aviation appropriations for the coming fiscal year amounts to $5,801,000 of which the Royal Canadian Air Force gets $4,130,000, the rest being given to civil aviation.

Walk Out Staged by Presbyterians

Defy Orders Received From Presbytery of Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, (AP)—Members of three Presbyterian congregations joined their pastors Sunday in a walkout in defiance of orders from the Presbytery of Philadelphia.

The demonstrations climaxed a week-long series of incidents marked by the establishment of the Presbyterian Church of America by a group of clergymen and laymen breaking away from the Presbyterian church in the U. S. A. in a conservative movement.

At the Central North Broad street Presbyterian church, less than 100 persons remained in their pews while more than 700 others attended services arranged by the Rev. Merrill T. MacPherson in Lu Lu Temple, two blocks away.

Much smaller walkouts occurred at the Grace Presbyterian church and the McDowell Memorial church.

Three preachers dismissed Ministers of all three churches were dismissed from their pulpits by the Presbytery for refusing to withdraw from the Independent Board of Foreign Missions, regarded as a conservative organization.

Since then, the Rev. David Freeman of the Grace church, and the Rev. Theodore J. Jansma of the McDowell church joined the new Presbyterian Church of America, founded in Philadelphia on Thursday.

Dr. MacPherson has indicated that he will form an independent church modeled after the Moody Institute church of Chicago, Ill.

Texas Preacher Gets Five Years

The Rev. Eskridge Guilty of Slaying at Orange, Texas

HOUSTON, Texas. (AP)—The Rev. Edgar Eskridge, husky, vice-crushing preacher, was convicted over the week-end of slaying Ed O'Reilly, Orange, Texas police chief—the man he baptized into the church—and was sentenced to five years imprisonment.

Chief O'Reilly was killed by bullets shot on an Orange street corner, May 29, 1935 a few days after Mr. Eskridge had been disarmed of pistols he carried during a raid on a night club.

Youth Held to Jury Over Fatal Shooting

WARREN, Ark. (AP)—Pete Lahn, 20, was held to the grand jury Monday under $500 bond, for the fatal shooting Saturday night of Mrs. Vera Walker, 40, a widow.

Young Lahn waived the hearing when arraigned in court. The grand jury meets in September.

Cotton Highest in Recent Months

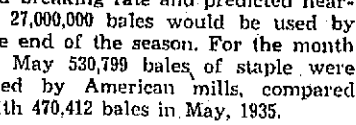

Expectation of Failure of Crop Results in More Buying

NEW ORLEANS, (AP)—An expanding demand coupled with a potential decline in supply aided cotton futures to work up to the best levels in months during the past week.

The belief that next year's American crop might be under expectations because of the threatened failure in the droughty southeast brought considerable buying into the market.

Speculative interest, long a dominant factor, returned to the buying side and on Thursday all options crossed the 11 cent level. Weekend profit taking cut down the net gains for the week and October closed Saturday at 11.09, December at 11.03, January at 11.03, and March at 11.05. This represented gains of around $1.50 a bale for the week.

At mid-week the government reported that world consumption of all kinds of cotton was running at a record breaking rate and predicted nearly 27,000,000 bales would be used by the end of the season. For the month of May 530,799 bales of staple were used by American mills, compared with 470,412 bales in May, 1935.

June 20 Is Set for Adjournment Goal

Leaders Plan Swift Action to Reach Agreement on Tax Bill

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Prodded by leaders who eyed the necessity for another congressional recess if agreement on the tax bill did not come promptly, house and senate members trudged back to the capital Sunday for a week of struggle toward a June 20 adjournment goal.

The tax measure stood pretty much where congress left it nine days ago when an interim was called for the Republican national convention—stalled in Senate House conference set up to bring accord in the conflicting revenue ideas of the two congress branches.

While expressing hope for agreement on the tax and other pending bills this week, leaders indicated if that could not be realized a second recess to cover the period of the Democratic national convention opening at Philadelphia June 21 was probable.

President Roosevelt's return to Washington Monday after a week through the southwest was expected to stimulate the adjournment drive. There was belief in some quarters of Capitol Hill that the White House might step into the picture if tax conferees are unable to reach a compromise and the resultant delay makes adjournment.

PROSECUTOR SEEKS HIGHER-UPS IN PROBE OF BLACK LEGION
DETROIT.—(P)—Although 42 men have been charged with Black Legion terrorism, and at least 200 more have been questioned in the swiftly unfolding investigation of the hooded order, Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea announced that "these are just the small fry." "Somewhere, higher up, are the real brains, the men who conceived and executed all this wickedness," he said. "They are the one we are going to find, eventually, and bring to justice." Among the 15 men arraigned Saturday on charges of conspiracy to murder a Highland Park newspaper editor and a suburban mayor were a "state commander," and a "brigadier general" of the night riders' organization. These men were being questioned by investigators searching for the key to secrets the black-cloaked brotherhood concealed by hiding from its members the identity of all their officers except one immediate superior. One of the 15 held under $25,000 bond on the conspiracy charge is Arthur F. Lupp Sr., state commander of the Black Legion and its principal Michigan recruiting officer, and another is Leslie J. Black, president of the Wolverine Republican League.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE With MAJOR HOOPLE

UMP—YES, FRIEND—IT WAS MY MISFORTUNE TO HAVE MY 16-CYLINDER LIMOUSINE FORCED INTO THE DITCH, WHILE RETURNING FROM THE CONVENTION, WHERE I HEADED MY STATES DELEGATION—HAR-R-RUMPH—BEFORE I PURCHASED HOOPLE MANOR OF 500 ACRES, AND FOUR MOTORS, NOTHING GAVE ME MORE PLEASURE THAN DRIVING A SMALL CAR LIKE THIS!

HE SOUNDS SQUIRRELY AND LOOKS WORSE! IT'S A HOP IN THE DARK, BUT I'LL BET IF HE'D TIP HIS DERBY, A CUCKOO WOULD FLY OUT—I'LL TURN HIM LOOSE AT THE NEXT GROVE OF WALNUTS!

NO MILEAGE ON THAT KIND OF GAS, MAJOR—

BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES

Y'KNOW, BOOTS—I, UH—HAD A DREAM ABOUTCHA LAST P.M.! YEAH! I DREAMED—I KISSED YA

OH, OH! THERE'S TH' END OF OUR MOOVIAN FRIEND! HES A GONER, NOW!

WHY? HUH! FAT CHANCE WE HAD OF STOPPIN' 'IM, TH' BONE HEAD!

OH, WHY DID WE LET HIM GO UP ON THOSE ROCKS?

ALLEY OOP

OH, OH! THERE'S TH' END OF OUR MOOVIAN FRIEND! HES A GONER, NOW!

WHY? HUH! FAT CHANCE WE HAD OF STOPPIN' 'IM, TH' BONE HEAD!

OH, WHY DID WE LET HIM GO UP ON THOSE ROCKS?

YEEOW!

WASH TUBBS

GREAT SCOTT! YOU SAW A FELLA TAMPERIN' WITH TH' BRIDGE WHERE THAT NITROGLYCERIN TRUCK BLEW UP?

EXACTLY!

AN' IT DOESN'T TAKE MUCH OF A JAR TO CAUSE NITROGLYCERIN TO EXPLODE, DOES IT?

NO, YOU MIT A BUMP WITH A NITRO TRUCK AN' BLOOEY!

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

POODLES, AREN'T YOU EVER GONNA LEAD US TO THE SPOT WHERE THOSE SABER-TOOTHED TIGER BONES ARE BURIED?

BY GOLLY, I KNOW A WAY TO MAKE HIM MOVE! MY GOOD OLD CAP PISTOL!!

WHAP

MYRA NORTH, SPECIAL NURSE

WHILE MERLE BEGS HER FATHER TO POSTPONE THE EXPEDITION TO EXPLORE ROHATEPS TOMB, DEVRIES STEALTHILY SLIPS INTO THE TENT WHERE MYRA IS RESTING

MYRA! ROUSE YOURSELF! DRINK THIS! THERE IS SOMETHING I WANT YOU TO DO FOR ME!

PLEASE, DOCTOR! LET ME SLEEP! I AM SO WEARY!

YOUR HEAD WILL CLEAR IN A MOMENT—THESE ORIENTAL DRUGS CAN PERFORM MIRACLES! LOOK AT ME, NOW—I WANT THE PLANS FOR ROHATEPS TOMB FROM SIR EDMOND'S TENT!

IN ANOTHER INSTANT, MYRA'S EYES TAKE ON AN UNNATURAL GLINT—HER EVERY NERVE IS KEENLY ALERT, DUE TO THE STIMULATION OF THE POWERFUL DRUG

YOU WANT SIR EDMOND'S SECRET PLANS OF THE TOMB—VERY WELL, DOCTOR—I SHALL BRING THEM TO YOU...

BE CAREFUL, NOW—IT'S GROWING DARK

OUT OUR WAY

OH—THIS IS WONDERFUL! WHY DIDN'T I KNOW THIS YEARS AGO—BUT I'M LEARNIN' SOMETHING NEW EVERY DAY—COME OUT HERE—I WANT YOU TO SEE THIS WONDERFUL WAY TO WASH DISHES!

WHY MOTHERS GET GRAY

Pshaw!

SO YOU WERE THE ONE!!! I HAD A DREAM, TOO—but, ALL I REMEMBER IS THAT SOMEONE TRIED TO KISS ME—and DID I SPANK HIS EARS

I NEVER SAW A MAN MOVE SO FAST! HE GOT IN TH' CLEAR! HOW DO YA SPOSE HE DID IT?

JUMPIN' CATFISH! NOW LOOK WHAT TH' FOOL IS DOIN'!

C'MON, FELLAS—LE'S GIT OUTA HERE, 'FORE HE GITS US ALL KILLED!

RIGHT—HE MAY BE CRAZY—but WE'RE NOT!

An Interesting Situation

LISSEN, COULD YOU IDENTIFY THE MAN YOU SAW TAMPERIN' WITH 'AT BRIDGE?

WELL, NO, HE HID AS I CAME UP, SEE.

GEE WIZ! THIS LOOKS LIKE BIG STUFF. MURDERIN' PEOPLE WITH A GUN IS TOO TAME—SO THEY BLOW 'EM UP WITH NITROGLYCERIN.

Tag Gets Action

NOW LOOK WHAT YOU'VE DONE! YOU SCARED HIM SO, HE MAY NEVER COME BACK!

GEE, FRECK, I DIDN'T MEAN TO SCARE HIM THAT MUCH! I PRESSED THE TRIGGER JUST AS QUIETLY AS I COULD!!
